Placement Cell

"Organised a workshop on 19-Sep-2017 on 'How to crack a Group Discussion' Speaker: Mr. G.N.Mishra"

The Placement Cell of Aditi Mahavidyalaya had organized a 2- hour practical training session on Group Discussion for the students in the final year of college. The success of the event can be gauged by the overwhelming response of the students who towards the end of the session requested the Convener of cell Dr. Nitu Rana to arrange similar programs in near future . The skill training in group discussion is vital for students at the threshold of their career, since it is a common selection tool for those desirous to enter the corporate world. Also, it boosts self confidence of students, enabling them to overcome their inhibitions and express their view point effectively.

Resource Person

The session was conducted by technical expert Mr. G.N. Mishra, Senior Regional Academic Head, fromT.I.M.E. Foundation, a pioneer in the field with nearly 18 years of experience in the industry.

Extensive Lecture Series Committee

The Extensive lecture series committee of the college has organized two workshops in 2018-19. Students were highly satisfied with both workshops and were also asked about their experiences, inputs and suggestions through feedback forms in each workshop.

Young Adulthood: Handling Relationships in Society

The workshop was organized on 09th August, 2018. The session offered valuable insight to the students about the day to day challenges faced by them with regard to their handling of relationships in society. The resource person Dr. Vichitra Dargan Anand - an eminent psychologist talked at length about nurturing the art of building healthy relations not only with others but also with one's own self. The session was made lively with role play and handouts that kept the audience engaged and interested. The session offered a platform to the students to share their anxieties and concerns faced in young adulthood and how to resolve conflicts situations

Youth who are about to enter into motherhood, workforce, and other challenging roles, ought to comprehend state-of-the-art health practices, the importance of children's and mothers' well-being, social and intellectual paradigms of gender-inclusive of construction and ken of constraints; its helpful and not so helpful stereotypes; gender and family; gender-fluidity; trans-sexualism -- as well as the traps of domestic violence, sexual harassment, the threat of human trafficking and feminist legalese. Consequent enablement and empowerment could help them to counter and resist crime and exploitation if any. We need to enhance their existing set of skills to the next level to enable them to perform their future roles efficiently and effectively.

With the above perspective in mind, a group of teachers from diverse academic backgrounds and committees like English, Home Science (HDFE), Medical, Cultural N.S.S. Committees of Aditi Mahavidyalaya decides to organize a four day, 'Inter-Disciplinary Lecture cum Training Series' on "Gender, Legal and Health Issues in Women's Lives" with the goal of preparing them for their successful transition into the world, the world of work and its challenges. The Series attaches special importance to discourse on North East Region. The sessions have been planned accordingly.

Please find attached the detailed programme schedule of the above Lecture cum Training Series.

Nakul Kumar Tarun, Director of Zone 4 solutions, our resource person Dr. Nitin Malik, Registrar at Ambedkar University Delhi, Dr. Avdhesh Kumar; Associate professor civil engineering Invertis University, U.P, the students teaching and non-teaching staff of Aditi Mahavidyalaya.

Because of some network issues on Ms. Rajini Abbi's part, she was unable to join the meeting. From Prof. Mamta, Prof.Sadhna passed the mike to Mr. Rajendra Singh, a member of NDMA who in detail analyzed and explained the need for disaster management in a country like India. He supported his argument with data that 12 %of the total landmass in India is exposed to floods,68% of the landmass is prone to drought, 69.91% of the landmass is prone to earthquakes which concludes that India is one of the most disaster-prone countries in the world. He then talked about the culture that he wants to spread through the skill development program- the culture of communication, skill-building mitigation to prepare the country for upcoming disasters. Discussion on NDMA approach the Apdamitra.
After Mr.Rajendra Singh, the mike was forwarded to professor Santosh Kumar who has worked for multiple National, International, and state-level seminars at the World Bank in disaster risk reduction with an experience of 38 years and is an economist. He initiated the conversation on how the disasters uncertain situation with an example of an earthquake in Japan that came into the water and resulted in a Tsunami that got converted into floods and resulted in the blockage of nuclear power plants which left the countrywide blackout. The example of such a disaster was given so as to introduce students to the Sendai framework in which Professor Santosh was in the drafting committee as well. Dr. Santosh focused on the requirement of adding disaster management, risk reduction to the curriculum for engineers, medical students, graduation and post-graduation. He with his team has even submitted such a curriculum to the UGC and he believed that the Youth being the backbone of the country should have the knowledge on school colleges and university levels. Dr. Nitin Malik then put forward some ideas on how this idea can be initiated as it's an need of the hour that an elective credit cost to be introduced in the university and colleges which can go ahead with 2 degree certificate courses and further with diploma degree courses for the students who are interested in the sector. He emphasized that such kind of courses are very effective in providing a path to the new education policy.

Mr. Nakul Kumar Tarun, the Director of the zone for a solution then introduced to the attendees, the idea for organizing such skill development courses. His inspiration came from the changes in the climate that have resulted in the increase in intensity and frequency of disasters. In such situations it is not possible that we only relay on govt. recourses but we also need to improve the private recourses. He emphasised that it's important to design curriculum for training in such courses which are important for the service of the society and also employment giving. His idea was to equip the youth to get the knowledge of life-saving rescue initially for their own benefit and then for those around them. He explained very interesting parts of the course as how to give CPR, how to communicate, give first aid, what are the rules and regulations to follow for fire safety and basically how to be the first responder to disasters.

After that Dr. Awdhesh Kumar, Associate professor at Invertis University UP was introduced to elaborate the role of youth in disaster management. He also focuses that it should be made a compulsory subject and universities and research institutions both should work in disaster management. Dr. Awdhesh gave a brief presentation on role of youth. He introduced the presentation by explaining the Sundial Framework for disaster risk reduction from 2015 to 2030 and explained that it is in collaboration with sustainable development goals. He explained the priority areas for this framework:

1. Understanding disaster risk
2. Strengthening DR governance to manage disaster risk
3. Investing in DRR for resilience
4. Enhancing disaster preparedness for effective response and building back better

UNISDR youth engagement platform has been initiated to support and facilitate the meaningful involvement of young people in India and policy design implementation monitoring and review at all levels. He explained that young people are actively engaged at local, national and global levels in raising consciousness and running educational programs such as conserving our nature, promoting renewable energy, adopting environmentally friendly practices and implementing adaptation and mitigation project. Efforts are needed by an educational institution to develop knowledge on disaster management among the youth and also build attitude towards the importance of preparedness. There is no better resource in a community than young people and without sufficient community resources for disaster preparedness and risk reduction is not possible as said by NDMA in 2009. Rural youth can play a pivotal role to develop a district disaster management strategy through awareness generation and development of early preparedness mechanisms about the disaster that they are prone to.

He then discussed the key strategy for engagement in DRR that were: engagement of youth in all phases of disaster management, focus on environmental resource, management and combating the impact of climate change, establish institutional linkage and promote initiative convergence, mobilize resources, establish a partnership with the private sector, implement supporting actions to promote youth volunteerism.

Dr. Awdhesh gives some key suggestions for youth enclosures DRR which included –

1. Advocate related departments to integrate DRR education into schools (secondary or primary)
2. Integrate DRR / CAA lessons into existing subjects like Civic education, Geography physics or extra curriculum
3. Organize youth lead activities at school as the community is related to CRR and CCA

Ms. Ankita Sukhwal highlighted that a large number of adolescent girls from rural areas of India are still not aware about issues related to menstruation and maintaining personal hygiene during this period and dealing with associated physical problems. They usually don't get a proper platform to get information or discuss such issues. This awareness session was conducted in which all associated topics related to menstruation were explained to adolescent girls, like what is menstruation, calculation of the period, physical problems faced by girls during their periods and ways to deal with it like doing some physical exercise and yoga, maintaining personal hygiene during this period and importance of maintaining hygiene, avoiding the traditional methods of using dirty cloths and promoting use of sanitary napkins, etc. Traditional myths and misconceptions related to menstruation were discussed. At the end of the session FAQs by the girls related to the topic were answered by the facilitator.

topic of the webinar. A link for the same was posted in the chat box and responses were received immediately.

Saraswati Vandana was played to seek the blessings of goddess Saraswati for the inauguration of the session which was followed by the welcome address delivered by Prof. Mamta Sharma, Principal of Aditi Mahavidyalay. In her remarks she stated "that barrier-free accessibility of education for the students with disability is the latest provision approved by the union ministry of India from primary to higher education. Effective devices, technology-based tools, quality teaching modules are some of the ways to achieve the educational inclusion of one and all. She expressed her gratitude to RCI for coming forward and sponsoring this webinar on disability and intersectionality in higher education joint efforts in promoting full inclusion. She shared with the dignitaries that 250+ participants registered for the webinar, but only 50 of them were permitted to attend it".

Professor Reema Lamba then gave the concept note of the CRE sharing the details of the technical sessions. She also shared the results of the baseline assessment of participants done during the ice breaking session. The analysis of the google form showed that the participants were quite informed about the Acts and were quite sensitive towards people with disability. It showed that 87.2% of them believed that people with disabilities can work in different professions like lawyers, nurses, teachers, CA, etc. 85% of them also believed that persons with visual impairment can also work as professional physiotherapists. And all of them agreed that People with locomotor disabilities can also work as newsreaders. Almost all the participants were aware of the RPWD Act of 2016, the disabilities mentioned in it and when it came into force. However, despite having knowledge, certain peculiar responses were received such as impact of physical disability on activities of daily living. Many respondents stated that physical disability impacts activities of daily living instead of athletic ability, which was the correct answer sought for. This hints at the perceptual and attitudinal barriers we have towards the capacities of persons with disabilities and was the idea behind this CRE.

Dr. Anil Aneja (HOD Department of English and Grievance redressal officer, Persons with Disabilities, University of Delhi) addressed the gathering by thanking everyone for giving him the opportunity to share his thoughts and perceptions with such an astute gathering. He complimented the institution for being active on social issues towards empowering those segments of society that often go ignored, Aditi being a college at the outskirts is not so when it comes down to initiating such talks and bringing about changes. He also talked about how sensitivity in higher education was commendable for the concerns of PWDs, especially when implementation is concerned, higher education plays a vital role. The reservation of 5 % of seats for PWDs has been fulfilled by the University of Delhi, but it is not so according to the data in other government universities. Reservation means feeling comfortable in the environment, having the accessibility of material, feeling comfortable in terms of accessibility of attitude, which is actually not present to full inclusion till date. Reservation is viewed as filling in the seats as per the guidelines without bothering to look into the environment which demands accessibility. The UGC is playing a major role in making things more accessible and bringing in attitudinal changes in people for the PWDs.

He concluded by expressing his gratitude for acknowledging the challenges that people with disabilities face at the higher educational level, bringing about change by initiating the conversations around the inclusivity of people with disability will intensify the changes in society and in the system.

The Chief guest Commodore Ranjan Mukherjee is the Commissioner for persons with disability GNCT of Delhi. He initiated by recollecting the points that Professor Aneja had deliberated to construct over the foundation for his colloquy. He explained the barriers in inclusive education, the distance the persons with disability have to cover to bring about change from being exclusive to inclusive. He discussed the whole range of barriers which included policy barriers, negative approach, attitudinal barriers, curriculum barriers, infrastructure barriers which include both physical and digital, and reasonable annotation barriers that persons with disability face.

He reminisced upon section 32 of the act which said that 5% of the seats are reserved for people with disability for which the benchmark is 40% or above to say that the person has a disability. He called upon the teachers and professors to guide the citizens through their example by including the persons with disability in higher education, sports, cultural activities, co-curricular activities with accessibility, and maintenance of all the requirements of persons with disability. He encouraged everyone to bring about change on the Macro as well as on an individual level, to which one of the approaches he suggested was by doing a self-audit. He quoted a very impactful line "we need to learn to be vocal for the local". He also briefly explained the difference between the status of living of persons with disability in developed countries like China, Korea, Japan, and the USA to an underdeveloped country like India. He also emphasized reasonable accommodation for persons with a disability like hostels accessibility, to the administrative building and washrooms.

Vote of thanks for these sessions was given by Mr. Baldev Gulati.

social level and educational level. The rights of persons with disability (RPwD) Act 2016 defines " inclusive education as a system of education in which students with and without disabilities learn together and the system of teaching and learning is suitably adapted to meet the learning needs of different types of students with disabilities".

He explained the concept of inclusivity by using multiple images where he showed what an inclusive, flexible system looks like. He differentiated and explained the terms exclusion, separation, integration, segregation and inclusion. He discussed the pathway of inclusion to assimilation using different resources like human resources, school and classrooms, physical environment, social environment, economical environment, and teaching strategies. He mentioned the challenges to inclusive education in India that were physical infrastructure, human resources, fewer job opportunities, the attitude of the society, instructional barriers, and diversities in Indian classrooms.

He mentioned the policies that address the challenges mentioned above: RCI Act 1992, PwD Act 1995, NTA 1999, SSA, RMSA, RTE 2009, RPwd 2016, NEP-2020. Out of which he elucidated upon the last two acts.

In the presentation, he got an overwhelming response from the participants that he had provided a different approach towards the act and related them to day-to-day life.

The question-answer round was initiated for the participants:

Question: What is the difference between a reader and an adult prompter

Answer: RPWD 2016 it is specified that they can provide a reader for an adult from term according to the situation for example if there is a practical exam from the should be chosen to perform the practical on the guidance of the student and if it is written exam The Reader will be provided to the student which will not even comprehend the question for the student.

Suggestion

A suggestion that followed was initiated by thanking the resource person. the participant described that she is guiding research students at Lady Irwin College and from their research, she has conceived that students and young adults with disability face bullying at the school level to such an extent, that it leaves an impact on them which is carried forward even after they had passed school years, to which she suggested that there is a need to create awareness and equity for persons with disability at the schools level as well.

PRESENTATION BY DR. SHANKAR LAL BIKA

He initiated his presentation by defining disability as inherently diverse that includes people from every gender, race, culture, sexual orientation, geographical region, age group and socio-economic level. It's also a group to which all of us can belong at any time. Historically persons with disability had been viewed as a charity case or just for purely medical perspective but today disability is viewed with dignity and respect as per the human rights Framework as mentioned in the international Paralympics committee.

As per the census 2011 India, out of 121 Cr population 2.68 crore persons with disability which is 2.21 % of the total population. The educational attendance of children with disabilities between the age of 5 to 19 is 61%. He elaborated upon the percentage of people suffering from different types of disability as per Census 2011 which included the disabilities in seeing, hearing, speech, movement, mental illness, mental retardation, multiple disabilities, and others. He talked about Deno's cascade system of special education services on different levels which initiated from children in regular classes including the children with disability to be able to get along with regular class competition with or without medication or counseling supported to level 6 of being homebound. he also talked about adaptive to physical education from level 1 full integration of regular P E with or without the support of a therapist to level 6 of being homebound.

He shared his experience with the major issues faced by a family of a child with disability. which included medical concerns that don't go away and extra financial burden, lack of normality family life or friends, added fears about the future, specialized child care, work, and education. how the family members like getting impacted from family conflicts to social isolation and impact in the professional life and how it can be solved by taking care of them to get along with their Peer groups.

He then initiated the topic of disability in the context of Higher Education education for students with disability which is an untouched area in the disability sector In India because it is a long-term investment. SDG 4 ensures inclusive and equitable quality education and provides lifelong learning opportunities for all: accessibility functions in the classroom, accommodation for exams, communication and social attitude. equity in education is a commitment of the public education system to Social Justice. Employment challenges are highlighted as major aspects that need attention in higher education.

He discussed the context of disability and how it becomes different in the higher education system in India:

- Education becomes the hope for emancipation and enlightenment of the marginalized.
- Inclusion of students with disabilities in elementary and secondary education has not automatically transferred to their inclusion in higher education.
- Elementary and secondary education and higher education or to separate entities in admission curriculum governance finance and policy.
- Justice in equal opportunities and has made certain efforts to formulate plans and programs accordingly.
- India is a signatory to almost all the conventions and declarations of the United Nations.
- RPwD Act

He discussed about Education of Students with Disabilities in Higher Education in detail:

1. Creating a culture of inclusion
   - Disability is a campus-wide concern. Typically, campus leaders turn to the disability support services and counseling offices on campus to build a comprehensive approach to access and accommodations.
   - The inclusive community takes work at all levels—from senior leadership to faculty and staff, to students.

2. Strategies for full inclusion on campus
   - Although no higher education institution has achieved full inclusion, many are striving to reach that goal.
   - Drawing from a recent higher education inclusion guide on how to accommodate students while building a comprehensive culture of inclusion, Govt. of India highlighted specific action steps campus leaders can take and examples of institutions with support in place for students with disabilities to achieve their highest potential.

3. Focus on on-campus design, planning, and Ensuring technology is accessible.
   - It includes attention to campus facilities and other physical spaces. The design and accessibility of a space communicate values and expectations.
   - Institutions should have a clear standard for accessibility when it comes to technology.
   - Inclusive spaces, or designing for inclusivity, take into account the different ways in which we learn, work, and socialize.

4. Reflect on how language is used.
   - One way to change detrimental attitudes or stigma toward disability is to intentionally use more inclusive language that dignifies people's images and expectations.
   - Using positive images of students with disabilities from different backgrounds can also help to familiarize disabilities.
   - Talking about disability and using inclusive language starts with how we define socially constructed concepts such as disability, diversity, and inclusion.
   - All people are valued and respected for their talents, beliefs, backgrounds, and ways of living.

5. Build faculty capacity.
   - Faculty may lack an understanding of inclusive pedagogy, so it is important to talk about disability bias and raise awareness about common disabilities.
   - Faculty can initiate conversations with students about support they may need, or encourage them to consider the ways they learn best.
   - Online or offline accessibility training opportunities for staff and faculty.

6. Encourage responsibility and accountability.
   - Leaders at all levels should be engaged in leading, messaging, and measuring improvements in inclusion.
   - All staff should clearly see their own role in, and contribution to, inclusiveness.
   - This disability-diversity ethos is driven by a mission to serve students with learning disabilities through accessible, evidence-based approaches to learning and built on commitments from stakeholders across the institution.

Raising awareness in the community about disability to encourage the inclusion of disabled people in family and community life.

Answer: he replied that with his experience of working with people with disability for 12-13 years, he has connected with many persons with disabilities. It depends from person to person. When the parents come with their child with a disability, they believe that the professional is their ray of hope that the child will get independent or not. Even though they themselves are well versed with how and what things are like, yet they want to know that from the professional. Being professional they think of ways how they can make the child independent in personal, social, occupational, and recreational aspects. And they plan it out with the parents, according to their resources, how they need to walk with the plan at home, in the community. They also counsel the parents, how to give space to the child, his independent viewpoint in the family. The problem with India is that people are not aware. This awareness needs to be generated from anganwadis to elementary school to secondary and then higher education. This is not a single step, this change will come gradually. This matter is also about individual differences. Our psychological, social attitude needs to get changed.

DAY 2

The first resource person of the day Ms. Thilakam Rajendran was introduced to illuminate the participants on "Entrepreneurship And Disability".

INTRODUCTION OF MS. THILAKAM RAJENDRAN

Ms. Thilakam Rajendran had been working in the disability sector for the past 30 years starting her career as a special educator in AADI (NGO) and later as the Managing Director of ARUNIM an initiative of National Trust, under MSJE, promoting livelihoods. She was an Fellow 2011 Boulder, Colorado for ARUNIM'S work chosen to be one of the world's best Social Enterprise and also as the most Innovative Projects in the world in 2013 by ZERO PROJECT, Vienna. This strong quest to empower all persons with disabilities drove Ms. Thilakam and her husband K.V.Rajendran to create a Social Enterprise Alliance to Promote Abilities and Rehabilitation, LLP(ATPAR) in 2015 and also launched NEDAR (Network for Entrepreneurs with Disability for Assistance & Rehabilitation) the first-ever business Network for Entrepreneurs with Disability in India on 1st June 2019. MS. THILAKAM'S PRESENTATION

Ms. Thilikam began by thanking Aditi Mahavidyalaya for organizing such a webinar series, Rehabilitation Council Of India for sponsoring it. She extended her warm regards to Principal Mamta Sharma, Shri Baldev Gulati, and Prof Reema Lamba for giving her this opportunity to take the session. She expressed her gratitude for how this will also shape the minds of the young students to create such role models. She expressed that the sentence 'entrepreneurship with disability' itself shows a big change in perception of the society regarding people with disabilities. She described that disability in a person is not his or her whole identity. Just like everyone, persons with disability want to be recognized and addressed by their professional qualifications or through the skills they have honed. She went on throughout the presentation by sharing her experiential knowledge and her presentation supported it by the pictures of her students with the group members. She apologized to the visually impaired persons present in the meeting, for including more visuals to her presentation.

She proceeded from talking about the inspiration behind starting her own journey as an entrepreneur, which was Raju- a boy suffering from cerebral palsy with limited speech and mobility. In her initial days as a professional, she used to be a part of the rehabilitation team, teaching children with disabilities to learn block printing, drawing, etc. to make them independent by training them for those skills, but her team hardly taught those students how to monetize the skills they had acquired. After completing such training for block printing, one of her students Raju was sent home by telling that he has acquired such a skill completely, which came as a shock to Raju as he realized that still, he won't be able to support himself with his earnings, he was not taught how to market his skills or monetize them which frustrated him. As a result of this frustration, Raju began his entrepreneurial journey by selling products from his wheelchair, by placing a wooden board on the wheelchair handles in front of him to display his products. He started as a seller on his wheelchair in 2000 and in the year 2020 he was running a successful documentation center in Salwan Public School, Delhi. Ms. Thilikam was moved by Raju's bold step and took the decision to facilitate and empower her students especially to make themselves financially independent. She initiated by writing out to the principals of the colleges of Delhi University to ask them that if they do any outsourcing, she will be able to provide those services through her interested student. And now she has arranged multiple spots in colleges, schools for canteens, documentation facilities through her students from her NGO and to people asking for her support and guidance outside her NGO.

She then discussed the current livelihood challenges in India for persons with disabilities. She talked about the challenges faced by open employment opportunities despite the policies and reservations . She discussed social prejudices, lack of employable skills, lack of minimum education prescribed for jobs, lack of accessible public transport, persons with developmental disabilities are still being excluded. She also talked about the challenges faced by self-employed people mostly having tiny enterprises. She discussed the perennial state of risk and challenge, inability to access the capital and lack of support and mentorship for better ways of doing the business. Then talked about the large number that is still left behind in the remote rural places and many people with disability are at home or invisible part of NGOs.

She talked about the challenge of transforming existing beliefs and practices.She talked about how open employment for persons with disability is still a challenge across countries where entrepreneurship and self-employment are emerging alternatives. And she ended her presentation by quoting Hellen Keller "It is the fundamental right of everyone to realize himself however imperfectly and contribute for the common good – however little. It is the duty of the society to recognize this right – the right of the disabled to be contributing members of the society."

Q N A ROUND

Question: How do you keep your perception so large?

Answer: She replied that it's not something that she wants to do but what her students want from her that motivates her to go out of the way and to find innovative ways to facilitate them It's her students who take the strong ground of what their rights are, what they want to do and achieve and she only facilitates them in doing so.

SUGGESTIONS

A group member made a suggestion for one of the problems that they face with digital marketing, to get their student access to study an online course for digital marketing which will not only help them to generate their finances but also help other members market their business digitally, through the web, social media, and email marketing.

FORMAL VOTE OF THANKS

The anchor then proposed a formal vote of thanks to Ms. Thilakam for sharing her experiential knowledge and delivering such an inspirational session.

She is also the Secretary of All India Women Education Fund Association and Jt. Secretary, Indian Association of Family Therapy.

PRESENTATION BY Dr. RENU MALAVIYA

Dr Renu Malaviya introduced her presentation by highlighting the disabilities covered in the RPWD Act 2016. Those 21 disabilities that are a part to be in the inclusivity aspect at the school and higher educational level, are Blindness, Low vision, leprosy cured persons, hearing impairment (deaf and hard of hearing), locomotor disability, dwarfism, intellectual disability, mental illness, autism spectrum disorder, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, chronic neurological conditions, specific learning disabilities, multiple sclerosis, speech and language disability, thalassemia, hemophilia, sickle cell disease, multiple disabilities including deaf-blindness, acid attack victims and Parkinson's disease.
Out of which some are direct disabilities and the rest are indirect responses that cause disabilities. She discussed the direct disabilities which include- blindness, low vision, hearing impairment (deaf and hard of hearing), locomotor disability, intellectual disability, specific learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, speech, and language disability, multiple disabilities including deaf-blindness.
Some disabilities that are including people with hearing disabilities, visual impairment, the teacher can use: whenever being a teacher, you draw something on the board speak the visualization; if one of the five senses is not working with its the full capacity of the learner, the teacher should be comfortable to use other 4 senses.
When it comes down to autism-specific disabilities which are neurotransmitter disabilities, sequential learning can prove to be difficult for such students even though they were excelling in other aspects like organizing events, etc.

While discussing disabilities, she also changed the perception of the audience by recognizing the fact that the people that we call 'Persons with disability' are actually 'persons with diversity', which leaves people with no disability disabled because of their attitude for being unaware and unequipped to teach and deal with persons with disability. She explained the different aspects of how people with disabilities are treated in society. She distinguished and defined exclusion, segregation,and integration. The word and kind of society that we are aiming for is an inclusive society where people with disabilities are considered diverse, feel inclusive in the class with no segregation.
She also clearly defined impairment- the loss or deficit of even diversity on the body/ structural level, disability as loss of function on individual activity level, and Handicap as a disadvantage imposed on the societal level. The University policymakers are working to reduce the handicapping situation of the students with disability experience by making the environment more accessible to them, by making accessible study material available for them, by making society more sensitized regarding people with disability.

Explaining the difference between inclusive and mainstream provided a more clear view. Inclusion meant the placement of a student with disabilities with his/her chronological age peers in a general education classroom with supplementary aids and services given to the student in the general education classroom, whereas mainstreaming means the placement of a student with disabilities with his/her chronological age peers in a general education classroom without supplementary aids or services. Inclusion can be seen where the system changes to facilitate the holistic potential of each and every learner and mainstreaming is where most students go.

She also suggested going on youtube to get more sensitized and equipped to help people with disabilities. She highlighted the problems of inequality by transforming that into equity, where the children who require more support are given so, as, for example, a student who has done his schooling in Hindi medium is not able to access the books on his subject in the library because they are available in English only. S/he requires equity and not inequality based on her/ his past experiences in life. She also highlighted how bringing justice is viewed as making alterations in the system which makes people feel the inequality of society. She ended her session by motivating everyone that it may be difficult, time-consuming, and would seem exhausting at times, but this is the only way of inclusivity now. There should be no way we should choose to go back to old methods of teaching the students.

Participants thanked the resource person for imparting so much knowledge in so little amount of time.

QUESTION AND ANSWER ROUND

Question: A participant shared their experience with a student, who according to the traditional teaching methods would be considered a slow student. According to his professors, the professor believed that the student had some sort of learning disability but the child's peer confirmed that it was not the case that they felt like. The challenge that the child faced was back in school he was taught to write, memorize but in college, the professors were trying to inculcate the skills of critical thinking, out of pressure and social exclusion he faced this problem as well. So the professor counseled some students, some of them volunteered to help him in his studies and to include him in social activities as well.

As a teacher the professor realized that the institution was failing, as a proper teacher, he was not able to find a proper solution. There was no training or sensitization that as teachers they should be given. He enclosed by saying that by not being a special educator, he has realized that challenges faced by children with disabilities are sidelined as no one wants to put in so much more effort, and the ones who try do not even get recognition for their work, nor the management understands to unburden them from some of their workloads. If someone wants to make such changes, s/he has to do it on their personal level and their workload won't be lessened.

He asked for the resource person views on this and her suggestions
Answer: She reconfirmed that whoever cares for the child puts in extra effort and faces the same sort of burden and exhaustion in doing so, but their only motivation for doing so is to make the aim that the child wants to achieve and one for the educator as well. She herself turns her experiences to turn into academic writings as well and that keeps her going. Online education has upgraded these things, so she suggested joining as many webinars, education programs for children with special needs which will help them. She also suggested interlinking his subject with the challenges faced by children with disability and their solutions, which will give him the liberty to work with other organizations/ institutions and will add to his resume as well.

Prof. Reema Lamba added that based on her doctoral work it had been identified that the earlier one begins inclusion the more impact it had on sensitizing people about children with disabilities.

FORMAL VOTE OF THANKS

A formal vote of thanks was extended to the resource person for taking time out of her busy schedule and imparting such an impeccable amount of knowledge in such a short period of time with so many life experiences.

The participants were asked to fill in the attendance form and the questionnaire for the session was also shared.

in Industrial Relations and personnel management. She has a certificate of counseling from the National Heart Institute.

She initiated her presentation by sharing her own experience during COVID- 19 impact in May 2020 they received calls from people who had lost their livelihood and didn't have any funds or food at their homes. NAB India Centre reached around 1,500 disabled beneficiaries seeking ration support through its mobilization team during covid 2020-2021.
There were communities in areas like Sultanpur, mango puri, where people with disabilities were living together. In some families, both the parents are visually impaired and they have two children, no access to anything, no job, no food.

Miss. Shalini then showed a video of Sangeeta, a single mother of two with visual impairment, who got infected with COVID, also left them with no money for rent or for food, no employment, no financial support from anywhere, her children were not able to attend classes online as there was no availability of devices. NAB provided ration to her doorsteps.
NAB at that time was also getting help from resources, and some drivers also agreed to deliver the rations to people with disability, living in poverty.

QUESTION AND ANSWER ROUND

Question: One of the participants shared that they have done a survey on how parents of children with disabilities were struggling like speech therapy, physiotherapy, where the parents were not trained and they used to receive modules or instructions for the parents to follow. What are the resource persons' views on what schools can do to take this forward if the third wave arrives?
Answer: If the schools can afford, they should provide devices which will give half the access to them. Health and technology are two critical aspects we need to consider.

SESSION 4:

National Hemophilia Organisation and its chapters in different regions of India to talk, present, counsel, and train the hemophilia community.

As a WFH volunteer she has visited several countries and developed modules to provide training on the psychosocial aspect of Hemophilia and Global NMO Trainings. She is a lead contributor to the WFH Psychosocial Curriculum and piloted the curriculum in training of psychosocial professionals of the Caucasus region in Serbia and Turkey. She received the "Caregiver's Education Award" from Bayer Haemophilia Awards Program. She has worked in various multicultural settings and widely travelled. She represents the Organisation,empowering Minds Society for Research and Development.

While summarising her presentation she briefly touched upon many perceived challenges to supporting young adults with disabilities having mental issues, it is the small things that make the biggest difference:
Care, Compassion, Empathy, Validation, Reassurance, Time to talk.
Dr. Mohan gave her presentation by covering:

- Understanding Mental Health and Mental health difficulties in young adults with a disability
- Understanding Prominent Challenges faced by the Young Adults with Disabilities
- Counselling Skills and intervention for students with disabilities
- Students with disabilities are not a homogeneous group

She initiated by defining and explaining mental wellbeing, mental health, and mental health difficulties
'Health' as given by the World Health Organization in 2014 - "Health is a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity."

She brushed the Role as a Counsellor for everyone :

- Give emotional and practical support
- Listen and provide comfort to them
- Facilitate self-help
- Help them access basic needs
- Refer to more specialized basic needs
- Help them to make decisions and solve problems
- Act with the help-seeker but do not act for him/her

She discussed the Key Attitudes in Counselling

- Empathy- to see and feel from the Other Person's point of view and understand what it is like to be that person.

- Respect- acceptance of the health seeker meeting him or her as an equal human being.
- to be genuine- to be true to oneself

How to Support Decision Making?

- Clarifying Questions and providing relevant practical information
- Support to identify a possible solution
- 'Here and now and try to guide to avoid life-changing decisions
- Accompanying, supporting, and coaching rather than direct advice.

The Key Elements for Active Listening

- Trying to fully understand the point of view of the help seeker.
- Repeating what the help-seeker has said and asking if you understood it right
- Summarising at the end what you have understood
- Exploring the emotional side of the problem well
- Trying to find solutions together with help- seeker, not for the help- seeker.

And How to Listen Actively

- "listening involves hearing, sensing, interpretation, evaluation and response"
- Maintain eye contact (if this is culturally appropriate).
- Focus on the help-seeker and give them room to talk.
- Use clarifying questions and summarising statements.
- Avoid giving opinions, arguing, or sympathizing.
- Avoid being distracted.
- Focus on what the help-seeker is saying, rather than guessing or preparing for what you will say yourself next.
- Use your own body language to convey your attention.
- Use words like 'yes', and 'hm', and 'go on.
- Use appropriate facial expressions.
- Keep your posture relaxed and open.
- Be awake and attentive – maintain high energy levels.
- Allow time for silence and thoughts.

QUESTION AND ANSWER ROUND

Question: As a counselor, it is understandable to dig deep to identify the reasons for behavior, but as a teacher how can we identify the root cause of such behaviors?

Answer: There are different strategies that can be used for it. Before that, if as a teacher we can listen to them actively and pay attention to their behavior. If for example- a student misses college and comes back to give a reason for that, we as teachers just need to give them that time to listen to what they have to say. That's where we can identify where those behavioral patterns are coming from. Most of those strategies involve active listening and that's where you can identify everything.

During these covid times, some students have become more comfortable talking about their issues and challenges that they might be facing as online mode provides the opportunity to talk, with making eye contact or without facing the other person. This has its own pros and cons.

A participant shared his experience of using alternative methods for the student he was trying to counsel. He personally counseled the class, and some students volunteered to help that kid out with whom the kid was more comfortable to do the things he wanted to do, which would not have been easily possible with the teachers because of time constraints, etc.
To add to this, Mr. Baldev Gulati shared his experience of organizing blindfold walks around the campus to build empathy in the mainstream student and also organize workshops and seminars for students with or without disabilities and also role play amongst students, by exchanging the roles of the students who had and did not have a disability. To convey the feelings and situations of the students with disability to the ones without any disability.

The session was ended by a formal vote of thanks extended by the anchor to the resource person for giving such inputs and putting words to the struggles and challenges that people with disability faced during the covid times

The attendance form and the questionnaire were shared with the participants.

FORMAL VOTE OF THANKS
A warm, formal vote of thanks was extended to the resource person, for brushing up on their counseling lessons from back in the college days and also for providing a new approach to view the issues and give a considerable solution to them.

The participants were given the attendance form and questionnaire to fill for the session.

Dr. Vipin K. Malhotra is teaching Pol. Sc. and Law. He is the teacher In-charge in the Department of Pol. sc. He is an Associate Professor at Sri Aurobindo College, Delhi University. He is an Honorary director of research and publication BSK legal, X-Vice-President, Staff Association, Sri Aurobindo College. He is also a Legal Consultant for Human rights and matters affecting, Persons with disabilities. He is the X-President DUPHCHTA, Joint secretary, National Association for the Blind Delhi, Executive Member of society for Child Development research. He is Media Award Holder, 2017 for Innovative education. He has been invited for talks frequently on issues related family law, human rights, Indian politics, and disabilities laws. Has contributed several articles on law and politics in national and international journals. He has completed his B.A. Hons. in Pol. sc., M.A., M.Phil., LL.B., LL.M., Ph.D. from Delhi University.

Dr. Vipin began by appreciating the efforts of Aditi Mahavidyalaya for being an institution in the outskirts of Delhi, providing quality education to the rural population living in the metropolitan city. He discussed how PWDs are the world's largest minority in every possible aspect- financially, educationally, socially, etc. It is now the need of the hour to talk about the intersectionality of disability and higher education. People with disabilities have made their mark in history by their commendable contribution in every field. They have been the torchbearers for social, economical, and political change across all cultures.
Some examples of people with disabilities and their contribution to a field and history are Homer for English literature, Surdas for Hindi literature, Addison, Einstein, and Stephen Hawking in the field of science. People with disabilities are not seeking out support, charity, or moral appeal from outsiders. They are equal contributors to society and they are seeking out their rights. Persons with a disability want to be included and change the attitude of society. He quoted " Don't try to fix us. We are broken. We want to live as we are."

He briefed upon Roosevelt's contribution on the universal human rights declaration to imply the importance of Sustainable Development Goals. Roosevelt's contribution impacted the constitution- civil-political rights, economic rights, etc., and still counting. These rights changed the relationship between the rulers and the rules. Everyone tries to adopt the universal rights by treaties which resulted in changing the municipal laws. He quoted from the 'justice of fairness'-"if justice is not given to the last person it is not served." human rights of the people who needed them most and for the last person.

He discussed the new era of artificial intelligence on the web three times, back into the industrial revolution and Green Revolution which came as a blessing but had their own Side Effects as well just like how artificial intelligence has its own benefits and side effects that we can ponder upon but a billion more possibilities of colonial invasion that we cannot even wonder the intensity and impact of. Deliberated upon artificial intelligence is a boon for people with disability because of genetic engineering Which can possibly cure every person's disability but it has its all-new permutations as we are all aware of the sort of exploitation, the struggle between the classes, addiction to our phone, et cetera that we will face.

Sustainable Development goals were declared As a universal model to fulfill 17 goals, 169 target areas, 213 indicators by 2030 on 25th December 2013. The three pillars of sustainable development goals are social inclusion, economic growth and sustainable climate change.
He discussed the interlinkage of persons with disability with all 17 sustainable development goals.

He discussed the Challenges that persons with disability face have been kept in the dark during the time off of development for example development through tech made touch screen phones available worldwide without considering the difficulty of persons with visual disabilities to use them. In movies and series, communication is done through the graphical method which again diploids people with disability especially the visually impaired is to be left out from it cyberspace has created a digital divide for people with disabilities.

He talked about Artificial Intelligence as a standing issue, apart from its possible positives, he tickled the minds of the participants to ponder upon the direction web development has and is being led to. Artificial Intelligence will take over the jobs of over 80% of people. 99% of the population possess a normal IQ and the restless than 1% is contributing to the development in AI. With this pace, in the coming times, he explained that the definition of disability will change, stem cells will cure orthopedic disabilities but this development will result in social disability, political disability.

THANK YOU NOTE
A formal vote of thanks was extended to the resource person for such inspiring words and enlightening the audience not only about the topic but also about Artificial intelligence, which is an emerging topic of conversation these days.

The participants were given the attendance form and the questionnaire of the session.

- The sustained struggle led by the National Federation of the blind with the focus on demand for enactment of the Disability Rights Law. (1989-95).

1995 proved A turning point in the history of the disability rights movement in India because of the Enactment of the PWD Act and Increasing awareness about the rights of the disabled.

The discussion then went onto The emergence of four major trends in the disability rights movement in the post-1995 era:

- Shift from a disability-specific movement to a cross-disability rights movement;
- Broadening of the agenda of struggle;
- Change in methods of advocacy, a shift in the struggle from streets to courts and quasi-judicial bodies;
- Acceptance of advocacy approach by the NGOs engaged in the field of disability.

He discussed the Shift from a disability-specific movement to a cross-disability rights movement

- Movement predominantly led by blind activists at the national level in the pre-PWD Act era;
- Disability Rights Group (DRG) in Delhi was established in 1993, but acquired wide-based support in the post-1995 period;
- The emergence of a diverse group of disability rights activists.

To Broaden the agenda of struggle, he illuminated upon

- A specific issue as a focus of struggle in the pre-PWD Act era, for e.g. employment of the blind (1979-87) and enactment of disability rights law (1988-95);
- Variety of issues covered simultaneously in the post-1995 era like accessibility, the inclusion of disabling in the census, the appointment of disabled people in the apex level government bodies in the field of disability, employment, replacement of PWD Act with new disability law, etc.

He explained Change in methods of advocacy, a shift in the struggle from streets to courts and quasi-judicial bodies happened

- Grass-root levels of advocacy like a roadblock, dharnas, rallies, etc adopted in the pre-1995 era continue to co-exist;
- The emergence of new methods of lobbying advocacy through legal forums like quasi-judicial and judicial bodies, e-mails, letter writings, online petitions, use of social media, etc.

SESSION 3 :

The resource person, Sultan Singh was introduced and invited for his session on Barriers in Higher Education for Women with Disabilities: A Way Forward. He introduced the topic by quoting Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru" When women move forward, the family moves, the village moves.

Though the preamble of the Indian Constitution does not do any discrimination among abled and disabled people and Article 24 of UNCRPD, deals with education, as a result, the attitude of society towards persons with disabilities has been changing with time hence the issue of disability especially with women become a matter of concern. education is important for disabled people since it can offer them opportunities for employment, social inclusion, and poverty alleviation.

- In India, women have been victims of stigma and discrimination, oppression, a violation for decades. As far as disability is concerned, women with disability become a double source of discrimination, on the ground of gender and impairment.
- The NSSO survey confirms in 2002, the disabled population in the country is 18.5 million which is about 1.8% of the total. The data also shows that the prevalence of disability (2.37%) is significantly higher among females than males (NSSO, 2002).
- The higher education system in India is a powerful tool to build a knowledge-based society.
- Education is the process of facilitating learning, or the acquisition of knowledge, skills, values, morals, beliefs, and habits. Educational methods include teaching, training, storytelling, discussion, and directed research. Education means in a real sense change in the behavior of the learner.

He defined special education as:

- Special education is an instruction that is individually tailored to meet the unique learning needs of a child with disabilities. (According to Rowayane Smith, 1973)
- Special education means specially designed instruction that meets the unusual needs of an exceptional student special materials, teaching techniques, equipment, and facilities may be required. (According to Hallahan and Kauffman, 1978)
- Special education is the process of making educational provisions to meet the special needs of children, which cannot be satisfied by the present arrangements available in ordinary schools. (According to Prof. N.K. Janeiro, 1986)

He then deliberated on the Barriers in Higher Education:

- Physical Barriers
- Attitudinal Barriers
- Socioemotional Barriers

He then discussed the Issues of Higher Education Today:

- Globalization has created new job opportunities, which in turn has led to increased demand for access to higher education.
- A reassessment of academic degrees and diplomas is required to meet the demands.
- The concept of internationalization in higher education teaching, training, and research has led to the migration of people and knowledge.
- India is marked by great cultural diversity, economic disparities, and social instability. Women are very rare as leaders in higher education institutions

- An over-supply of academic graduates faces problems of unemployment in rapidly changing job markets. Based on the above-mentioned challenges three prominent aspects related to higher education and women seek instantaneous concentration.
- Firstly women graduates must be considered as an impending human resource of our country. So equal job opportunities should be provided.
- Discriminatory practices are unjust and a flagrant wastage of valuable expertise. This issue has to be addressed and weeded out.
- Government should aim at equipping women with the necessary range of managerial skills.

Higher Education The Challenges:

- The conservative attitude of society towards women discourages their participation in decision-making.
- Despite the sensitization of empowering women through education, their enrollment in higher education is not very satisfactory (though there is a remarkable change in some states and some quarters of the country).
- The absence of a gender dimension in the higher education curriculum should be taken care of. These are the pertinent challenges that ought to be attended to and amended.
- Limited access to education, especially higher education
- Discriminating appointment and promotion practices
- The stress of striking a balance between family and professional roles
- Family attitudes
- Career interruptions
- Cultural stereotyping
- Alienation from the male culture and continued resistance to women in management positions
- Propagation of the glass ceiling syndrome which privileges covert criteria for advancement
- Absence of adequate policies and legislation to ensure the participation of women.

Remedies Suggested:

- Promote wider access to higher education
- Procedures for appointments and promotions must be reviewed
- Provision of legislative and infrastructure support in all professions and of special programs for women.
- Confirmatory action favoring women's access and participation
- Institutional and governmental support through clear and effective policies should be enforced
- The University curriculum must tender stimulating role models for women students

Society Organizations. He Visited Europe as Visiting Professor (London & Czech Republic). He is an Executive Director and Associate Professor of SASR –a civil society organization and RCI accredited teacher training institute for IntellectualImpairment, ASD, and Cerebral Palsy.

He holds a Key position in the setting of 2 Composite Rehabilitation Centres at Bhopal and Srinagar and 3 DistrictDisability Rehabilitation Centres at Jammu and Kashmir. He is the Founder President of SASR: a civil society organization concentrating on developing suitable service delivery models & human resources in the cross-disability sector. He had also Initiated dozens of community-based projects for individuals with disabilities across the country.

He has Written & Edited course materials for RCI & IGNOU. He has Edited Assamese Handbook on Multiple Disabilities.

Have presented Numerous papers at National and International Conferences in India & Abroad. Organized several national and international conferences; several symposiums, and workshops for Parents, Siblings, Teachers, Administrators, and RehabilitationProfessionals across the country. He is a recipient of several awards and accolades from different organizations and associations in the disability sector.

Dr. Das has worked as the director of the National Institute of Persons with Multiple Disability. Before joining the national institute for visual impairment at Dehradun. National institute for persons with multiple disabilities collaborated with the University of Pondicherry for 5 years, which has resulted in Pondicherry university being a model of inclusion for persons with disability and many national and international universities are coming there to study the model. This is an example of the impact of the intersectionality of persons with disability with higher education.

If a test gets done for physical accessibility, content accessibility, socio-cultural accessibility, accessibility of teachers, psychological accessibility of the students, and functional and mobility accessibility of the students, most of the universities will fail to prove their inclusivity. With the implementation of the RPWD Act, the reservation of seats for persons with disability was enhanced from 3% to 5%, but after taking a look into the survey it is difficult to analyze for which disability the percentage is divided. But even for this 5%, there are backlogs and not a waiting list for the student. Job reservations have been increased from 3% to 4% which includes 1% of physical disability, 1% of hearing disability, and 1% of visual disability but the 4th percent of the disability covers a whole gamut of disabilities which includes multiple disabilities, cerebral palsy, specific learning disabilities and so on. But if people with such disabilities are not a part of higher education how will they fill out the 4th percentile of the job reservation. There is a dire need to start conversing on this which will result in many years of hard work to actually bring in the change. To do such things, we need to build capacity-building programs for teachers with a focus on the mentioned 21 disabilities.

He talked about accessibility auditors. to make the universities and colleges accessible for the people with disabilities in higher education. After the audit is being done, the SIPDE fund of the department of the persons with disabilities with the ministry is granted to build barrier-free buildings, as in many colleges it is extremely difficult even today to find an accessible washroom for people with disability in colleges.

Multidisciplinary Holistic education at undergrad, when we talk about higher education it is required to add this subject to the curriculum. Integrative exposure of all core subjects for different disabilities, which requires superficial services like a physiotherapist, occupational therapist, etc. Mainstream colleges are very few who are offering different courses about disabilities that are not bound for the students with disabilities. Higher education needs a lot of resources to make everything accessible for people with different disabilities and to do so, we need to initiate the conversation around this. Let it be for website accessibility or availability of the material in different forms for people with disability.

QUESTION AND ANSWER ROUND

Ques: How can we collaborate with the national institute for persons with disability for making Aditi Mahavidyalaya barrier-free for persons with disability?

Answer: He proposed to meet him any time suitable in his Delhi office where he is director of IPH.

SUGGESTIONS

Various measures that can be taken:

1. Every student is encouraged to plant a sapling at the University of Delhi, and on similar lines, we can make such a course to be added to the curriculum like environmental studies.
2. There is no proper sensitization even if teachers are aware of various barriers, legislation, rights of the students with disability. Students might not be properly oriented, so to solve that we can add this along with the orientation of sexual harassment, anti raging.

One of the participants mentioned that all of the sessions were very informative and very interactive.
The topic is very interesting and has helped in improving and learning so many new things about it and add on to their knowledge.

One of the participant, Ms. Meeta Virmani wrote a poetry and shared with the group it was as follows:

My dis ability My dat ability
Her ability and His ability
When ability is common between you and me
Then why does the comparison find a need to be?

Hold my hand for pleasure,
Trust me, am as good as others in leisure

I have got a plethora of strengths
I hope you have got a vision in that sense

If not, look what i see, hear what i hear and walk as i do
You ll get a taste of my life in my style not worse , may be a lil different from you

So My dis ability My dat ability
Not my fragility, its my versatility.

of Aditi Mahavidyalaya and SOL. Around five hundred and thirty students and faculty from Aditi Mahavidyalaya and other colleges participated in the programme.

Prof Mamta Sharma, Principal, Aditi Mahavidyalaya, who is the pioneer of the programme formally welcomed everyone and explained the importance of having Short-term courses on such topics which will help students in making students self-reliant and in achieving the dream of Atamnirbhar Bharat. She also expressed the need of providing the knowledge and the opportunity to students of Aditi Mahavidyalaya who are mostly from rural backgrounds to explore the option of entrepreneurship by providing the necessary support that they require in building their confidence. She also explained the importance of technology in building and strengthening collaborations with like-minded institutions and people not only across universities and colleges but also across the globe.

Shri Prince Sharma, Chairman, Aditi Mahavidyalaya, briefed the august gathering about the qualities of an entrepreneur. He also gave the example of Lijjat Papad – the successful entrepreneurial journey of rural women coming together and converting it into a flourishing business. He also talked about the various schemes and programs launched by the Delhi Government like the 'Business Blaster Program' in schools and the establishment of Delhi Skill and Entrepreneurial University.

The Chief Guest of the programme Prof Payal Mago, Director School of Open Learning briefly explained the history of entrepreneurship by taking an example of a village, how they were independent covering all the aspects from manufacturing to the consumption of products, how females used to be equal to men in every aspect from farming, looking after the cattle, producing artifacts and bringing in income to their house. But after colonization, the changes that were brought upon in the education system and policies shifted the focus from being independent and having the approach to do their own business to white-collar jobs or working in an office and how our perception became biased favouring those who are working in the offices to the one who is self-reliant.

Guest of honour of the programme- Prof U S Pandey- Principal, School of Open Learning elucidated on Entrepreneurial skills are the most important of all the skills and the steps taken by the Central Government in supporting the youth by launching various schemes for entrepreneurs, low-interest loans, etc. He gave the example of IIT Delhi which has a 1500 crore budget for the entrepreneurship department.

Prof. K B Gupta who was also the Guest of Honour of the programme gave multiple examples of entrepreneurs who now have massive businesses. He used the examples of Dhirubhai Ambani, Azim Premji, Infosys, and Hero MotoCorp. He also talked about the businesses that have boomed with the online world- zomato, swiggy, Nyakaa, and several more. His aim of expounding all these businesses was to explain that the ones who have an aim for wealth creation must get into entrepreneurship as jobs might not be able to give the satisfaction of being at the top like Reliance Industries and Infosys.

Mr. Anurag Mittal, In-Charge, Entrepreneur Cell, School of Open Learning explained the details about the course and the reason for initiating such a course. He has worked with the World Bank in the past and he has realized that students in India are not very well aware of the opportunities that are waiting for them on national and international levels, especially for women entrepreneurs. He explained the schemes provided by the government to support and give a platform to the students with their businesses.

The queries of the participants were resolved by Sh Anurag Mittal. The programme was highly appreciated by one and all and the participants showed their eagerness to join the course at the earliest.

The Delhi University's (DU) Aditi Mahavidyalaya — an off-campus girls' college based in the semi-urban area of Bawana — has launched a Digital Incubation Platform with Integrated Mentorship to encourage its students, largely from the semi-rural areas, to become entrepreneurs. Principal Mamta Sharma said it is the first DU college to do so.

The incubation platform has been set up in collaboration with the SKILLSertifika Bootup 360 Company. SKILLSertifika Global is an Indian research-based ed-tech firm headquartered in Singapore with an "expertise in innovative thinking, research and innovation and creation of digital incubation platforms", the college said.

Sharma said with the setting up of the incubation platform, the college "aims and strives towards holistic development of rural girl students, most of whom are first-generation learners".

Start Your Management Journey

"The incubation centre has been established as a step towards digital empowerment of girls which will take them to greater academic and professional heights. I am confident that this initiative will equip the girls with research and innovative skills and develop their entrepreneurial competency, paving the way for their financially secure future," said Sharma.

"The model proposes a systematic and integrated business approach for the students which will expose them to numerous challenges they will have to face while starting their business ventures and prepare them to meet these challenges through industry-agnostic mentorship and provision of a globally-operative platform," she added.

The incubation platform was formally inaugurated by Rajni Abbi, Chairperson, Aditi Mahavidyalaya and Proctor, University of Delhi; T C Dhoundiyal, Founder and CEO, SKILLSertifika Global, Priya Bir, Nodal Officer, Digital Incubation Centre; and Sharma on January 7.

In today's fast paced and ever-changing world, there is a need for youth that is skilled more than just academic excellence. One of such values required is: innovation. The techno-savvy world today requires the youth to be relevant and emerge as thinkers to pursue surer pathways to success.

The pandemic era required us to take an automatic switch to the adaptation of modern-day technology and divert our attentiveness towards the need for a shift to the more holistic development of learners and contribute by focusing on skill development by teaching, innovative thinking, analytical behaviour, research and involving academic incubators.

Functionally distinct from classrooms, libraries and student unions, academic incubators establish new forums for idea exchange on campus. Designed to spark strategic partnerships between academia and industry, incubators connect students to start-ups, investors, and other collaborators they might not otherwise encounter.

Aditi Mahavidyalaya, University of Delhi in collaboration with SkillSertifika launched a Digital Incubation Platform with Integrated Mentorship in 2022 to encourage young girl students, largely from the semi-rural areas, to become entrepreneurs. that are required to deal with the emergency during and after the time of the disaster, skills like- managing the emergencies, leadership skills, critical thinking, staying calm during stressful situations, problem-solving skills.

After the introduction, Prof. Sadhna invited Prof.Mamta Sharma, Principal Aditi Mahavidyalaya, who introduced the topic in brief by defining disasters, emergencies, and how preparing for the disaster is the only way to deal with them. Prof. Mamta Sharma sets the tone for the program and invited our chief guest Mr. Rajendra Singh member of NDMA, Dr.Santosh Kumar professor and head of GIDRR division, Prof. Rajni Abbi chairperson of Aditi Mahavidyalaya, Convener Mr. Nakul Kumar Tarun, Director of Zone 4 solutions, our resource person Dr. Nitin Malik, Registrar at Ambedkar University Delhi, Dr. Avdhesh Kumar; Associate professor civil engineering Invertis University, U.P, the students teaching and non-teaching staff of Aditi Mahavidyalaya.

Because of some network issues on Ms. Rajini Abbi's part, she was unable to join the meeting.
From Prof. Mamta, Prof.Sadhna passed the mike to Mr. Rajendra Singh, a member of NDMA who in detail analyzed and explained the need for disaster management in a country like India. He supported his argument with data that 12 %of the total landmass in India is exposed to floods,68% of the landmass is prone to drought, 69.91% of the landmass is prone to earthquakes which concludes that India is one of the most disaster-prone countries in the world. He then talked about the culture that he wants to spread through the skill development program- the culture of communication, skill-building mitigation to prepare the country for upcoming disasters. Discussion on NDMA approach the Apdamitra.
After Mr.Rajendra Singh, the mike was forwarded to professor Santosh Kumar who has worked for multiple National, International, and state-level seminars at the World Bank in disaster risk reduction with an experience of 38 years and is an economist. He initiated the conversation on how the disasters uncertain situation with an example of an earthquake in Japan that came into the water and resulted in a Tsunami that got converted into floods and resulted in the blockage of nuclear power plants which left the countrywide blackout. The example of such a disaster was given so as to introduce students to the Sendai framework in which Professor Santosh was in the drafting committee as well. Dr. Santosh focused on the requirement of adding disaster management, risk reduction to the curriculum for engineers, medical students, graduation and post-graduation. He with his team has even submitted such a curriculum to the UGC and he believed that the Youth being the backbone of the country should have the knowledge on school colleges and university levels. Dr. Nitin Malik then put forward some ideas on how,this idea can be initiated as it's an need of the hour that an elective credit cost to be introduced in the university and colleges which can go ahead with 2 degree certificate courses and further with diploma degree courses for the students who are interested in the sector. He emphasized that such kind of courses are very effective in providing a path to the new education policy.

Mr. Nakul Kumar Tarun, the Director of the zone for a solution then introduced to the attendees, the idea for organizing such skill development courses. His inspiration came from the changes in the climate that have resulted in the increase in intensity and frequency of disasters. In such situations it is not possible that we only relay on govt. recourses but we also need to improve the private recourses. He emphasised that it's important to design curriculum for training in such courses which are important for the service of the society and also employment giving. His idea was to equip the youth to get the knowledge of life-saving rescue initially for their own benefit and then for those around them. He explained very interesting parts of the course as how to give CPR, how to communicate, give first aid, what are the rules and regulations to follow for fire safety and basically how to be the first responder to disasters.

After that Dr. Awdhesh Kumar, Associate professor at Invertis University UP was introduced to elaborate the role of youth in disaster management. He also focuses that it should be made a compulsory subject and universities and research institutions both should work in disaster management. Dr. Awdhesh gave a brief presentation on role of youth. He introduced the presentation by explaining the Sundial Framework for disaster risk reduction from 2015 to 2030 and explained that it is in collaboration with sustainable development goals. He explained the priority areas for this framework:

1. Understanding disaster risk
2. Strengthening DR governance to manage disaster risk
3. Investing in DRR for resilience
4. Enhancing disaster preparedness for effective response and building back better

UNISDR youth engagement platform has been initiated to support and facilitate the meaningful involvement of young people in India and policy design implementation monitoring and review at all levels. He explained that young people are actively engaged at local, national and global levels in raising consciousness and running educational programs such as conserving our nature, promoting renewable energy, adopting environmentally friendly practices and implementing adaptation and mitigation project. Efforts are needed by an educational institution to develop knowledge on disaster management among the youth and also build attitude towards the importance of preparedness. There is no better resource in a community than young people and without sufficient community resources for disaster preparedness and risk reduction is not possible as said by NDMA in 2009. Rural youth can play a pivotal role to develop a district disaster management strategy through awareness generation and development of early preparedness mechanisms about the disaster that they are prone to.

He then discussed the key strategy for engagement in DRR that were: engagement of youth in all phases of disaster management, focus on environmental resource, management and combating the impact of climate change, establish institutional linkage and promote initiative convergence, mobilize resources, establish a partnership with the private sector, implement supporting actions to promote youth volunteerism.

Department of Social Work organised the inauguration of TISS Saksham Pramaan, Pravaah project on 29-Jan-2022

Project Saksham Pramaan, Aditi Mahavidyalaya

Prof. Beena Antony Reji is the Faculty In Charge to "Project Saksham Pramaan, Aditi Mahavidyalaya" in 8 states of North India. India is committed to 'ending the AIDS' epidemic as a public health threat by 2030 in line with Sustainable Development Goals (SDG). National Strategic Plan (NSP) has a vision to realize the 'Three Zeros' - zero new infections, zero AIDS-related deaths and zero discrimination.

First Priority of the NSP 2017-24 is to accelerate HIV prevention in 'at risk' population including 'key population'. There is a need to evaluate the targeted interventions keeping in mind the priorities and strategies of National Strategic Plan (NSP). This calls for capacity building of the evaluators in recently revised formats for TI and LWS evaluation.

Aditi Mahavidyalaya in coordination with TISS under NACO will undertake annual evaluation of Targeted Intervention (TI) and Link Workers Scheme (LWS). The TIs reach out to the key High-Risk groups (HRGs) such as Female Sex Workers (FSW), Male having Sex with Male (MSM), Transgender/Hijra (TG), Injecting Drug Users (IDUs) and Bridge Populations such as Migrants and Long-Distance Truckers.
