Few unique features- NIIT Foundation online Learning management system

The current scenario of Covid-19 has necessitates the students and teachers to sit across their digital devices to continue with the education. From these times onwards skill training will also slowly move towards a contactless experience with the use of mobile devices and computers as many organizations and corporates were looking for online learning for creating impact in Education and Skilling. Running skill development and training programs through digital medium (LMS) gives multiple advantages like: Saves time and cost, highly scalable, beneficiaries can access anytime anywhere and learn at their own pace. NIIT Foundation has launched a Learning Management System (LMS) that offers a new model of Education and Skilling for the under-privileged target population.

Subject: Support for the NSDC Skill training courses

Dear ma'am,

Greetings from Navjyoti India Foundation!

Following your telephonic conversation with Santosh Ji, I'm sending you a proposal letter for our partnership. We would be happy to partner with you. We are seeking partnerships with like-minded NGOs, institutes, colleges, and universities to fulfill our mission of helping marginalized groups of society to become self-reliant.

Our Navjyoti India Foundation (NIF) is a premier not-for-profit organization in the country working since 1987, well known worldwide for its commitment to work with marginalized sections of the society and to bring them to attain a dignified quality of life. It was registered as an organization in 1988 by the Magsaysay Award recipient Dr. Kiran Bedi and 15 other like-minded officials of Delhi Police, as a result of the inextricable link that existed between crime and drugs. Our strategy of crime prevention is based on the principle that the surest way to reduce crime is to focus on factors that put individuals at risk.

The Community Colleges at Navjyoti at Karala Northwest Delhi is based on the 4 C model seeking to make its

and

Zone4Solutions are desirous of entering into an arrangement whereby they can collaborate and work together with each other in areas of Disaster Management and related fields for mutual benefit.

and

Whereas both parties have discussed the matter and have decided to enter into an agreement by this Memorandum of Understanding.

Now, therefore it is agreed by and between the parties as follows:

1. That both parties have identified disaster management as the area of their mutual interest and expertise, wherein both can work together. The areas that have been identified for joint working based on mutual discussions held between the two parties include the following:
  - Identification of community and college youth in Delhi NCR.
  - Training of those youth volunteers towards disaster risk reduction with specific reference to reducing risk including Covid-19 transmission and infection in the chosen community.
  - Mapping of vulnerable groups in the area and working towards their risk reduction of Covid-19 infection
  - Increased engagements between youth volunteers and stakeholders at the community level.
  - Setting the base for upscaling the project to other communities towards skill building and alternative employment generation of youth in various communities within Delhi NCR

Provide that other areas may be identified from time to time by mutual consent.

2. That the collaboration between the parties hereto may include the following:

प्रोफेसर ममता शर्मा / Professor Mamta Sharma

Orientation Programme on Skill Training By Aditi Mahavidyalaya in collaboration with Zone 4 Solutions on 18 December 2021 from 11: 00 AM - 1:00 PM

The session began with an informal exchange of pleasantries amongst the resource persons and the professors of Aditi Mahavidyalaya until all the students joined in and then began the formal session from 11 AM. Prof.Sadhna Jain was the moderator of the inaugural cum orientation program for the 30-hour certificate course on disaster management, conducted by Aditi Mahavidyalaya in collaboration with Zone 4 Solutions.

Prof. Sadhna introduced the course which will consist of 15 hours of covering the basics of the theoretical aspects and 15 hours of practical sessions on Disaster management. The Alumni, professors, non-teaching staff of Aditi Mahavidyalaya will learn to amplify their multiple skills that are required to deal with the emergency during and after the time of the disaster, skills like-managing the emergencies, leadership skills, critical thinking, staying calm during stressful situations, problem-solving skills.

After the introduction, Prof. Sadhna invited Prof.Mamta Sharma, Principal Aditi Mahavidyalaya, who introduced the topic in brief by defining disasters, emergencies, and how preparing for the disaster is the only way to deal with them. Prof. Mamta Sharma sets the tone for the program and invited our chief guest Mr. Rajendra Singh member of NDMA, Dr.Santosh Kumar professor and head of GIDRR division, Prof. Rajni Abbi chairperson of Aditi Mahavidyalaya, Convener Mr. Nakul Kumar Tarun, Director of Zone 4 solutions, our resource person Dr. Nitin Malik, Registrar at Ambedkar University Delhi, Dr. Avdhesh Kumar; Associate professor civil engineering Invertis University, U.P, the students teaching and non-teaching staff of Aditi Mahavidyalaya.

Because of some network issues on Ms. Rajini Abbi's part, she was unable to join the meeting. From Prof. Mamta, Prof.Sadhna passed the mike to Mr. Rajendra Singh, a member of NDMA who in detail analyzed and explained the need for disaster management in a country like India. He supported his argument with data that 12 %of the total landmass in India is exposed to floods,68% of the landmass is prone to drought, 69.91% of the landmass is prone to earthquakes which concludes that India is one of the most disaster-prone countries in the world. He then talked about the culture that he wants to spread through the skill development program-the culture of communication, skill-building mitigation to prepare the country for upcoming disasters. Discussion on NDMA approach the Apdamitra. After Mr.Rajendra Singh, the mike was forwarded to professor Santosh Kumar who has worked for multiple National, International, and state-level seminars at the World Bank in disaster risk reduction with an experience of 38 years and is an economist. He initiated the conversation on how the disasters uncertain situation with an example of an earthquake in Japan that came into the water and resulted in a Tsunami that got converted into floods and resulted in the blockage of nuclear power plants which left the countrywide blackout. The example of such a disaster was given so as to introduce students to the Sendai framework in which Professor Santosh was in the drafting committee as well. Dr. Santosh focused on the requirement of adding disaster management, risk reduction to the curriculum for engineers, medical students, graduation and post-graduation. He with his team has even submitted such a curriculum to the UGC and he believed that the Youth being the backbone of the country should have the knowledge on school colleges and university levels. Dr. Nitin Malik then put forward some ideas on how this idea can be initiated as it's an need of the hour that an elective credit cost to be introduced in the university and colleges which can go ahead with 2 degree certificate courses and further with diploma degree courses for the students who are interested in the sector. He emphasized that such kind of courses are very effective in providing a path to the new education policy.

Mr. Nakul Kumar Tarun, the Director of the zone for a solution then introduced to the attendees, the idea for organizing such skill development courses. His inspiration came from the changes in the climate that have resulted in the increase in intensity and frequency of disasters. In such situations it is not possible that we only rely on govt. recourses but we also need to improve the private recourses. He emphasised that it's important to design curriculum for training in such courses which are important for the service of the society and also employment giving. His idea was to equip the youth to get the knowledge of life-saving rescue initially for their own benefit and then for those around them. He explained very interesting parts of the course as how to give CPR, how to communicate, give first aid, what are the rules and regulations to follow for fire safety and basically how to be the first responder to disasters.

After that Dr. Awdhesh Kumar, Associate professor at Invertis University UP was introduced to elaborate the role of youth in disaster management. He also focuses that it should be made a compulsory subject and universities and research institutions both should work in disaster management. Dr. Awdhesh gave a brief presentation on role of youth. He introduced the presentation by explaining the Sundial Framework for disaster risk reduction from 2015 to 2030 and explained that it is in collaboration with sustainable development goals. He explained the priority areas for this framework:

1. Understanding disaster risk
2. Strengthening DR governance to manage disaster risk
3. Investing in DRR for resilience
4. Enhancing disaster preparedness for effective response and building back better

UNISDR youth engagement platform has been initiated to support and facilitate the meaningful involvement of young people in India and policy design implementation monitoring and review at all levels. He explained that young people are actively engaged at local, national and global levels in raising consciousness and running educational programs such as conserving our nature, promoting renewable energy, adopting environmentally friendly practices and implementing adaptation and mitigation project. Efforts are needed by an educational institution to develop knowledge on disaster management among the youth and also build attitude towards the importance of preparedness. There is no better resource in a community than young people and without sufficient community resources for disaster preparedness and risk reduction is not possible as said by NDMA in 2009. Rural youth can play a pivotal role to develop a district disaster management strategy through awareness generation and development of early preparedness mechanisms about the disaster that they are prone to.

He then discussed the key strategy for engagement in DRR that were: engagement of youth in all phases of disaster management, focus on environmental resource, management and combating the impact of climate change, establish institutional linkage and promote initiative convergence, mobilize resources, establish a partnership with the private sector, implement supporting actions to promote youth volunteerism.

Dr. Awdhesh gives some key suggestions for youth enclosures DRR which included –

1. Advocate related departments to integrate DRR education into schools (secondary or primary)
2. Integrate DRR / CAA lessons into existing subjects like Civic education, Geography physics or extra curriculum
3. Organize youth lead activities at school as the community is related to CRR and CCA
4. Peer to peer exchanges using various forum and media to promote young people's perspectives to decision-makers local authorities and young people on disaster risk management
5. Organize extra-curricular activities with topics on DRR: campaign, contest, summer activities.
6. Expand youth clubs to train and conduct propaganda on DRR
7. Organized used to conduct campaign: keep our community clean, say no to plastic bags, protect our river, forest, and beaches.
8. Scale up the use of activities to allow more youth to participate
9. Communities, school, colleges, Universities and families should be sensitized to value the participation and potential of children.
10. Group clubs organized by youth should be encouraged with the active and continuous support of authorities.

He ended his presentation with a quote by Dayanand Saraswati "Arise! Awake! And stop not until the goal is reached." Awakening the students, and authorities on the alarming need of the hour.

In the end platform was opened for student's queries. Prof. Sadhna then invited Ms. Tanushree and Mr. Nakul. Various questions were asked by students such as -

Question 1. What would be the cost for the session?
Answer: Free of cost course for alumni and students of college and they will conduct an assessment at the end of the session.

Question 2: how will they manage to promote disaster management programs at the primary school level?

Answer: The resource person answers that on the primary school level it is not only the students that are present there but also the teaching staff and the non-teaching staff who will also get influenced and affected by such training and inclusivity of these topics. The children will be able to learn through practical sessions.

Question 3: How will this help in entrepreneurship?

Answer: Recourse person explained the meaning of entrepreneurship. The students can monetize on the idea to begin a fresh start on a smaller level which will lead its way up to the top with the quantity and quality of their impact. He also explained the value of such a course that will help the students to save themselves and the people around them in the hour of need.

Question 4: What will be the dates and timings for the sessions?

Answer: A google form will be circulated amongst the students for their preference and then it will be decided this week.

Prof. Sadhna then invited Dr. Suruchi singh, Coordinator, IQAC sub-committee to give the formal vote of thanks and ended the meeting.
